A WONDERFUL OPPORTUNITY

The C. S. Sullivan Estate owns a farm of 700 acres seventy miles West of Augusta, Ga., which they have put in our hands for sale. Mrs. Sullivan cannot handle the property. She wants to sell Anderson County property in part payment.

It lies within, say, two miles of a nice town in which there is a bank, a large cotton warehouse, quite a number of prosperous stores, a large flourishing school with several teachers.

A splendid public road made of sand and clay runs through the property. The roads are all graded and are much better than in this county. The Augusta Southern Railway runs through the property and has a side track on this land. There is almost 500 acres cleared. There is probably 300 acres in one field at most level.

The tenant houses are better than anything in this county that I have seen. There are six houses. Four of them are six rooms, two four rooms. The land is sandy, with a good clay sub-soil within six inches of the top.

This place was sold by the present owners for $15,000.00. The purchasers who were speculators went broke owing about $15,000.00 on it and you can buy it for that sum. Now there are lots of men in this county with one or two hundred acres of land that will bring enough to pay for this place.

You can give your children a farm apiece and still have enough for yourself. It is in a splendid white section, good water, absolutely healthy, and all right in every particular.

On the farm adjoining this, there is the finest dairy I ever saw. They were milking exactly 100 Jerseys at the time I was there. Land is selling all around this at $30.00 to $50.00 an acre. This farm has been rented out for several years, but it is so level that they could not wear it out. I have just made a trip down there to look over the place, and I think it is a great bargain.

There is stall room for 10 milch cows on the place. Fine road to Augusta. People running down there in automobiles almost every day. They make the round trip in 3 or 4 hours. Now if you have any property in Anderson County that you would like to put into this, see me at once and let me see if I can't make a trade for you. We will give you good terms on the balance.

This place is about 16 miles from Sparta, and 8 or 10 miles from Greenville. The land looks like the land goes on the road from Belton to House East of Williamson. The place is clear out this year because it was in litigation. I met a man who worked a two horse farm on the place last year and he told me he made 14 miles of cotton with very little seed.

You can take it from me that this country is all right and a good place to live. See me.

GENTRY - SHAW CASE OCCUPIED ATTENTION

TWO YOUNG MEN ON TRIAL FOR KILLING WAYMON CAIN

IS ATTRACTING MUCH INTEREST

All of Testimony Finished and Arguments Began Yesterday—Three More to Be Made.

The case of Reed Shaw and Ernest Gentry, charged with the murder of Waymon Cain, was taken up yesterday morning when the second week of the court of general sessions began. All witnesses had been examined by 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and afterwards, Mr. A. H. Dagnall, who is assisting solicitor in the prosecution, made his argument, which was followed by Mr. Samuel L. Prince for the defense, Messrs. Watkins and Prince are representing Ernest Gentry and Mr. Leon L. Rice represents Reed Shaw. This morning speeches will be made in the following order: Messrs. Watkins and Rice for the defense and Solicitor Smith for the state.

Dr. H. A. Pruitt was the first witness and when sworn said:

"I was called to perform an autopsy over the body of Waymon Cain on the night of November 11. I found a bullet wound in his head, three-fourths of an inch above the left eye and three-eighths inch left of the median line. The bullet cracked the skull in the back near the right ear. (Bullet shown in evidence.) The wound was sufficient to have caused death, and in my opinion it did cause his death. There were powder wounds all around the entrance of the wound and judging from the powder burns, I would say that the pistol was not over one or two feet from the head of the dead man when it was fired. I found the body between the home of Mr. Jim Jackson and his mill. I got there an hour or two after his death. I saw nothing lying around.

Clyde Dempsey was the next witness for the state. When sworn he said:

"I live near Easley, and on November 11, I was at the home of Mr. Jim Cain, my uncle. I know Ernest Gentry and Reed Shaw. I saw them both the night of the 11th of November. We were all at a musical at Mr. Nixon's. There were several parties there I do not know, and I saw no pistol. Jess Shaw, Reed Shaw, Ollie Saylor, Waymon Cain, John Cain and I left the house between 10 and 11 o'clock to go home. We left the house with Waymon Cain, Jess Shaw, Ollie Saylor and me a little in front, and Reed Shaw, Ernest Gentry and Johnny Cain a little behind us. When we got 125 yards away from the home of Mr. Nixon, Ernest Gentry called to Waymon Cain to stop, and cursed him. Waymon turned and was walking backwards. Ernest came up and shoved Waymon, and Waymon in turn shoved Ernest. Reed Shaw then shot Ernest Gentry. I saw him get my gun, and Johnny Cain grabbed Ernest Gentry's arm and tried to hold him, but Reed Shaw tore him loose from Gentry and told him that there was not anybody going to get hurt. Then Ernest Gentry pulled out his gun and began to shoot. The first shot seemed to go one side of Cain, and the others went in the direction of his head. At the last shot Waymon fell, and I went up to where he was lying. Reed Shaw stood straddle of him and leant over his body, striking him in the side, said: 'Damn you are you dead.' Then he struck a match and I saw there was a wound in his head. It was bloody and I went to the home of Mr. Jackson to phone for a doctor. There was no weapon in his hand when I left to go for the doctor. I also went home to Uncle Jim's house, and told him that Waymon had been shot. When I got back to the scene I saw the pistol. It was not at the body when I left. Johnny and me went away together to get a doctor. Saylor, Gentry, Reed and Jess Shaw were there. When the shots were fired, Reed Shaw, Ernest Gentry and Waymon Cain were in a group together several feet apart from the rest of us. Me and Johnny Cain were about the same distance from the shooting. While we were coming along Reed Shaw said to Ernest Gentry: 'We had better walk up if we are going to have that fight.' When the match was struck, I walked up to the body and spoke to Waymon. I called him three times. He was not dead when I left. I went for the doctor, but when I got back, he was dead.

On cross examination, the witness held in his original statements. "I am a cousin to the boy who was killed. I had been visiting at his home for two or three days before the killing on Thursday night. Ernest and Waymon seemed to be good friends. There was no disorder at the musical and I saw no whiskey. I smelled some, and did not see any pistol. I took Waymon Cain's pistol and put it in the back of my buggy. When Mr. Jackson asked me about the pistol, I told him I was not sure what it was. When the shots were made, I ran to the Ernest Gentry's right hand. He and Reed Shaw were only a little distance away from Waymon Cain, about three feet. I knew nothing of any scheme to scare Ollie Saylor."

Johnny Cain sworn said: "I am the son of M. J. A. Cain. Waymon Cain was my father. With that the solicitor instructed me to tell what he knew of the killing, beginning at the time the three boys, Dempsey and the two Cains left their home.

Ernest Gentry came by our house and we all went to the musical together. Ernest and Clyde came out of the house together. Ernest had his arm around Clyde and Waymon was in front and I was a little behind. There was no disorder at the musical and there was no disorder of any kind at the dance. We left Mr. Nixon's and Jess Shaw, Ollie Saylor, Waymon and Clyde were in front with Ernest Gentry, Reed Shaw and me in the back. Reed Shaw told Ernest that he had better stop up if they were going to have that fuss, and Ernest called to Waymon. Waymon turned around, and was laughing. We walked up, Waymon was walking backward, and Ernest pushed Waymon. Waymon pushed back at Ernest and Reed Shaw, said: 'Shoot him.' Ernest reached for his gun and I grabbed his gun. Reed Shaw pushed me away from him and told me that there was not going to be any one hurt, that it was all in fun. Ernest grabbed out his gun, and started to shooting. I walked back up closer, and there was one shot fired when I got back up closer from where Reed had lunged me. Waymon fell on the last shot, and Reed Shaw stood straddle of him and said: 'Damn you, are you dead?' Me and Clyde went up to Mr. Jackson's to phone and then went home. The gun was not there when I left, and when I got back, I did not see the gun, on

THANKSGIVING

Of all the years that the United States has celebrated Thanksgiving, Nineteen Hundred and Fifteen has more good reason than all that have gone before. With millions of Europeans engaged in the most destructive death-struggle the world has ever known, the good old United States is at peace with the world, waiting patiently to play the part of peace-maker when the time is ripe.

This time a year ago, business throughout the Southland was almost at a standstill—but conditions have changed very materially, our great staple was raised more cheaply this year than usual, and cotton is now selling for almost an average price, so we as a community, have good reason for being thankful.

This firm is deeply grateful for the business entrusted to its care, and assures its friends and patrons that it appreciates keenly the many tokens of confidence and esteem shown it during the past twelve months.

By the way, if there is anything needed in the way of Sterling Silver or a Fine Quality of Silver-plate, or a Dinner set of French or Austrian China, or some Fancy pieces of Hand-painted China, Carving-sets, Vases for Cut Flowers, or sparkling Cut-glass to brighten up the table for that sumptuous Thanksgiving Dinner, please let us serve! Our stock is replete with just what you want in these lines.

COMB SAGE TEA IN LIFELESS, GRAY HAIR

If Mixed with Sulphur it Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.
